

POSITION VACANT – JOURNAL EDITOR

HTA would like to appoint an additional editor for Teaching History.

Current HTA individual membership is required. While extensive editing experience is not essential, such a person would need highly developed written communication skills and an ability to edit and proofread. They would also need to be able to manage timelines and work as part of a supportive team. Above all, they would need a love of history and be able to bring enthusiasm and a feel for the needs of history teachers and students to the role.

- We encourage interest from early to mid-career teachers in both urban and rural areas.
- The work requires basic computer competence, including the use of Microsoft Word, and a reliable broadband connection. It does not require the use of design software.
- While the personal rewards are significant, this is a voluntary role. However, a small honorarium is paid to cover expenses.

Initial inquiries should be made with HTA's office:
